CONGRESS.

THIRTY-THIRD CONGRESS-FIRST SESSION. In the Senate, yesterday, after our report had been closed,

Mr. Pettit called for the consideration of the special order, being the report of the Committee on the Judiciary, declaratory of the right of the Senator from Vermont [Mr. Phelps] to a seat in the Senate.

Mr. Mason addressed the Senate against this report, and was followed by Mr. Stuart on the same side.

the same side.

Messrs. Geyer, Walker, and Clayton, advocated the report.

The vote was then taken by yeas and nays, and decided as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Clayton, Dodge of Iowa, Everett, Fessenden, Foot, Geyer, Morton, Norris, Sebastian, Wade, Walker, and Williams—12.

NAYS — Messrs. Adams, Allen, Atchison, Badger, Bayard, Brodhead, Brown, Butler, Clay, Dodge of Wisconsin, Douglas, Evans, Fish, Fitzpatrick, Hamlin, Hunter, Mason, Pearce, Pratt, Rusk, Seward, Shields, Shidell, Stuart, Sumner, and Toucey—26.

Mr. Badger then submitted the following

Resolved, That there be paid out of the con Resolved, That there be paid out of the contingent fund of the Senate, to the Hen. Samuel S. Phelps, a sum equal to the amount of mileage and per diem compensation of a Senator, from the day of his attendance at the present session to this day, inclusive.

The resolution was at once agreed to; and Mr. Phelps is no longer a Senator.

Senate, Friday, Murch 17, 1854. On motion of Mr. Foot, the vote by which was adopted yesterday, the resolution directing the payment of the Hon. S. S. Phelps a sum equal to the per dicm and mileage of a Senator during the time of his attendance, was reconsidered.

Mr. Pettit explained that he was unavoids bly absent when the vote was taken yester-day; if present, he would have voted in favor of the right of Mr. Phelps to retain his seat. The resolution was then amended verbally, and was again adopted.

Mr. Brodbead reported a bill making provisions for holding the United States courts and for post office accommodations in the city of Philadelphia; and the same was considered

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of bills on the private calendar, the first of which was the bill for the relief of Hodges & Landsdale, and the legal representati Rinaldo Johnson and Aune E. Johnson. Mr. Bayard addressed the Senate till two o'clock, in opposition to the bill.

House of Representatives, March 17, 1854. The Speaker placed before the House a communication from the Department of State, giving information in respect to the number of passengers who have arrived at the various ports of the United States in 1853, their places of origin, the deaths on passage, &c.; which was laid on the table, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Phillips, by unanimous consent, presented certain resolutions of the State of Alabama; which were referred to the Committee on Commerce, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Benton, by consent, offered a resolution asking the President for information in regard to any treatics made with the tribes of Indians in Missouri and Iowa, for extinguishing their titles to lands, the expenses thereby incurred or to be incurred, &c., which was laid on the table, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Jones, of Louisians, arose to a question

Mr. Jones, of Louisians, arose to a question of privilege. He reviewed the incidents of the debate of yesterday, as between Mr. Giddings and himself, and said that his expression of disbelief in the word of a gentleman he would not now justify, even as applied to the gentleman from Ohio; but he finally said he did not disbelieve that gentleman's word. He had no doubt he thought he had read what he asserted he had. The gentleman had spoken of proposed eet sure in the Louisiana Legislature of the President, for not arresting "the progress of civilization in Cuba." It was the progress of the Africanisation of Cuba. The gengress of the Africanisation of Cuba. The gen-

Mr. Giddings replied. He meant no disrespect to Louisiana, nor to any other State. What he had asserted was, as he fully believed, the truth, and he had asserted it because it was truth. The words emancipation and civilization he regarded as synonymous, and a right understanding of the English language would asset in this interpretation.

But, said Mr. G., I do not wish the gentle-But said Mr. G., I do not wish the gentle-man from Louisians to understand me as ap-preciating very highly his condescension in ac-knowledging that I may have told the truth in the premises. I thank no gentleman for such a concession. I allow no man to doubt my word. I know what is due from and to every word. I know what is due from and to every gentleman, and will reciprocate with every gentleman courtesy, kindness, and forbearance. But I can go no further. To accept even-handed justice or ordinary courtesy as a charity, is far from falling within my rule of conduct. Gentlemen had better understand me. Slave-holders are lofty in their tone; but when they use Abolitionism toward me as a term of reproach, I shall use the term slaveholder toward

CHARLES SUMNER'S SPEECH.

We give several columns of our paper this week to Mr. Sumner's speech on the Nebraska question. The conclusion, containing his review of the early policy of the country on the subject of Slavery, we shall give next week. Altogether the speech is one of the ablest and most eloquent yet delivered on the subject in the Senate. In its comprehensiveness of statement, its historical research and accuracy, its logical power, its richness and beauty of allusion and illustration, its dignity of tone, and its stirring eloquence, it is a speech to be remembered, to be perpetuated as a part of the history of our country and of the world-wide struggle between Tyranny and Freedom. It has extorted praises for its eloquence, and confessions of fear for its power, from even the most zealous supporters of the Nebraska fraud. The Washington correspondent of the Ledger, ("Observer,") one of the shrewdest and most mischievous of the paid tools of the slave power, says of it and its probable effect:

"Mr. Sumner's speech in the Senate, on the Nebraska bill, opened a new vein in the debate, and has certainly not contributed to make the bill any stronger than it was. It was able, eloquent, and argumentative, and furnished new evidence of the danger of provoking talent and genius against a man or his measures. Candor compels me to say that Mr. Sumner made a very great speech, and that his speech, if not changing the opinions of the Senate, will certainly have some influence on the voters in his State. It would have been better for the bill and all its consequences if that speech had not been delivered.

and all its consequences if that speech had not ken, I now doubt whether the bill may not delayed another month in the Senate, in hich case it may linger for months in the cose, and be in the way of all other busi-Pennsylvania Freeman.

The subscriber tenders his most cordial and grateful acknowledgments to his friends and patrons for their long-continued favors, and will be pleased to meet them in his new house.

I have a very welf-assorted stock of Boots and Shoes, of French, New York, Eastern, and my own make, embracing every style and variety, to which I invite the attention of members of Congress, and citizens generally.

HENRY JANNEY.

Penn. av., north side, between Browns' Hotel Jan. 2 and 7th st., third door from the latter.

From the United States Argus.

To those persons who may visit Washington, and are in want of a boot that cannot be excelled, either in quality or workmanship, we would call their attention to the card of Henry Janney, to be found under the head of "Washington." A handsome and neatly-made boot is not at all times a source of pleasure to the wearer, but often one of extreme torture; this is caused by the bungling manner in which the boot is fitted to the foot. Mr. Janney has devoted much of his time in studying the construction of the human foot, in order to ascertain how a boot should be cut and fitted, that will be perfectly easy to all parts of the foot. In this he has succeeded, so that it matters not what may be the shape of, or the number of corns on the foot, his boot is perfectly easy. Thus he has combined beauty with comfort. TO THE CONSUMERS OF DRY GOODS, Who Seek their Supplies in our Market. ONE PRICE ONLY. We are now in our NEW STORE, which was creeted expressly for us. FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC DRY GOODS, of every style, all of the best qualities, and for which we shall have one price only.

We shall sell cheaper than we ever have done; and in having one price only (which, in our opinion, is the only fair and equitable way of doing business) we shall maintain our self-respect, which is above all price or success. Moreover, we expect to retain all the trade of those prompt customers who have made their purchases of us for some years past, and doubtless we shall have a large accession of new customers, who prefer to buy where one fair price only is asked.

We feel that our simple word is requisite only to satisfy our former customers that the one price system is the correct one, and to their advantage; and we do not hesitate to assert our belief that all candid and intelligent persons will, after an impartial examination of prices, fabric, and styles, give a one price store the preference. Those who are not judges of goods cannot fail to be impressed at once with the manifold and vast advantages to the purchaser resulting from the adoption in good faith of the one price system; it necessarily insures low prices to the purchaser, for it becomes absolutely necessary to meet at the start all competition that can be offered in prices.

Our scale of prices will be so low, and the profits so small, that we cannot and will not sell but for the cash or to enstomers who pay promptly. For those who purchase very largely, or to sell again, reductions will be made.

The public are cordially and most respectfully interested to the cash of the ca vited to call at all times and examine our stock.

HEREBY constitute Mr. Simon Willard, No. Congress street, Boston, sole agent for the sale omy Watches in the United States of America. April 15, 1853. CHARLES FRODSHAM.

The undersigned, having been appointed sole Agent in the United States for the sale of Charles Frodsham's Improved Timekeepers, would respectfully call public attention to his extensive and valuable stock of Compensated Chronometer Watches, made by Charles Frodsham, and styled his "New Series." In the Watches of the new series, Mr. Frodsham has succeeded—by a more perfect method of compensation, a more correct adjustment in isochronism, and an entirely new and peculiar construction of the train, by which more power is obtained without increase of size—in producing timekeepers of wonderful and unrivalled accuracy. The great importance of the improved Watches is a perfect regularity of time, under every variety of climate, motion, and position. So perfect are the adjustments, that the most violent exercise—such as horseback riding, jumping, &c.—produces on them no sensible effect. They are therefore peculiarly adapted to railroad purposes.

The scientific French critic, Mons. Borsendorf, in his review of the Great London Exhibition of 1851, styles the contribution of Mr Charles Frodsham as "bearing the stamp of peculiar merit, and as being the flower of the English school."

The British Government have awarded Messra. Arnold and Charles Frodsham the sum of £3,170, for the excellence of the principle of their timekeepers. One of Mr. Frodsham's correspondents writes as follows:

Lordon, April 26, 1852. April 15, 1853. CHARLES FRODSHAM.

LONDON Auril 26, 1852. LONDON, April 26, 1852.

Six: I have much pleasure in giving an account of the Gold Compensation Lever Watch No. 3,325, you have made for me, and in which I expressly stipulated that it should maintain a uniform rate of going under every variety of motion and climate. This it has done in a most remarkable manner; its rate of going for the first six months was five seconds permonth, and in the next six months it changed its rate a little faster, vix: eight seconds per month, and at the end of 365 days it was found to be first of Greenwich mean time one minute and fifteen seconds. Though I was not led by any provious promise to expect such performance, yet I believe it is only the usual character of your improved watches, which you term your "new series."

usual character of your term your "new series."
I remain, sir, yours, respectfully,
THOMAS BARTLETT.

The undersigned has received the following Sir: I herewith give you an account of the remarkable performance of the watch I purchased of you, made by Charles Frodsham, No. 7,014. Its total variation for 17 months, by weekly observations, was but one minute and fifty five seconds.

Yours, respectfully, BILLINES BRIGGS. Boston, October 5, 1853. Yours, respectfully, To Mr. Simon Willard.

Boston, September 3, 1853.

The Compensated Lever Watch I purchased of you made by Charles Frodsham, of London, No. 7,300, has varied but thirty seconds from mean time in six months, by actual daily comparison with your regulator. Yours, &c., Mr. Simon Willard.

The undersigned is permitted to refer to the following gentlemen, who, among many others, have prove the excellence of Frodsham's Watches as timekeep Ruoch Train, Esq. Wm. Whiting, Esq.

Eben. Lane, Esq., Ohio.

The subscriber would respectfully state that the above Watches are designed and executed by Mr. Frodsham and himself, especially to meet the demands of the American public in the great essential of perfect time, and that in this and in external beauty they stand unrivalled.

The number of patients treated at the Establishment has been on the increase from year to year, for the past six years, until the last season, when the demands of the public far exceeded our power to accommodate them. That our own opinion of this remarkable book may not seem exaggerated, we publish the following article. written by one of the editors of the Evening Traveller:

"Messrs. J. P. Jewett & Co. have in press. and will shortly publish, a tale of deep interest, entitled 'The Lamplighter.' The scene is laid in Boston and immediate vicinity, and its author is believed to be a Bostonian, or a resident of this neighborhood. We accidentally fell in with some of the proof-sheets of the work, the other day, and, after reading a hundred or more pages, we have no heistation in pronouncing it one of the most original, interesting, graphic, and affecting tales, thus far, that has lately appeared. It is quite equal, to say the least, to 'Wide, Wide World,' though not what would be called a religious novel. If the work is completed with the ability which is displayed in the first part of it— and we have no reason to doubt that it will be—we predict for it a sale and popularity equal to the most successful of modern romances, such as Uncle Tom alone excepted."—Evening Traveller, Jan. 27, 1854.

THE LIVING AGE has been abundantly honored by the approbation of the best judges; it has been prenounced to be sound and vigorous; various and entertaining; full of spirit and life; uniting the qualities which gratify the scholar, the philosopher, and the man of business, with those which recommend it to their wives and children. We shall now endeavor to add to these intrinsic excellences the greater attractions of Art, and, beginning with 1854, Every Number will contain an Impression from a beautiful Steel Plate.

This work is made up of the elaborate and stately essays of the Edinburgh, Quarterly, and other Reviews; and Blackwood's noble criticisms on poetry, his keen political commentaries, highly wrought tales, and vivid descriptions of rural and mountain scenery; and the contributions to literature, history, and common life, by the sigacious Spectator, the sparkling Examiner, the judicious Athenaeum, the busy and industrious Literary Gazette, the sensible and comprehensive Britannia, the sober and respectable Christian Observer; these are intermixed with the military and naval reminiscences of the United Service, and with the best articles of the Dublin University, New Monthly, Fraser's, Tait's, Ainsworth's, Hood's, and Sporting Magazines, and of Chombers' admirable Journal. We do not consider it beneath our dignity to borrow wit and wisdom from Panch; and, when we think it good enough, make use of the thunder of The Times. We shall increase our variety by importations from the continent of Europe, and from the new growth of the British colonies.

THE LIVING AGE is published every Saturdsy, by LITTELL, SON, & COMPANY, corner of Tremont and Bromfield streets, Boston. Price 124 cents a number, or six dollars a year in advance. Remittances for any period will be thankfully received and promptly attended to.
